In discussions with close associates in the Philippine Chinese community during February 1953, WANG Ai-ch'eng and WANG Chiung, leading Chinese Communist Party propagandists in the Philippines, advanced the following propaganda themes:

- a. The lifting of the Formosa Strait blockade was not ordered until the US was certain that Chinese Nationalist forces were becoming prepared for an invasion of the mainland. The US, in accordance with long-range plans of aggression against the mainland through the utilization of Chinese Nationalist forces, for some time has assisted the Nationalist Government with technical advice, equipment, and military training.
- b. This secret plan of the US had been anticipated and the Chinese Communist Government and the USSR are prepared for its eventual implementation. Any invasion of the mainland by Nationalist puppets of the US would be met with strong opposition, since Communist China is capable of defending itself against any aggressor.
- c. Churchill's most recent visit to the US was made as a protest against US policy regarding Taiwan; however, his protest was ignored. By lifting the blockade, the US has, in effect, unleashed Nationalist forces for wanton destruction by the Communists. This US policy has alienated and embarrassed Great Britain; irritated and confused France; frightened other Western allies of the US; and done more to hinder efforts being made toward a permanent peace by the Allied Nations of Western Europe than any single action during the past two years. Such damage to the objective of world peace is irreparable.
- d. Western allies of the US should be grateful that the true US objective, which is one of condoning and provoking aggression in any part of the world in order to benefit US expansionist policy, has been exposed. To oppose this type of despotism is the duty of all decent people.

- e. The US has been resoundingly defeated in Korea. The US desires to vindicate this defeat through the initiation of World War III.
- f. Since Communist China is fighting for an ideal, and for the right to live by that ideal, it will be victorious in any conflict. US forces are not engaged in a personal war; therefore, they lack motivation to stimulate them into an efficient fighting unit.
- g. Because the revolutionary schedule of the Chinese Communist Government is rigid, its leaders will not tolerate delay, and will quickly subdue any aggressor. Although the Chinese Communist Government is not seeking war, it is prepared militarily to defend itself. The present military strength of Communist China is far superior to that of the Western allies because it consists of the forces of China supported by the USSR.
- h. In any territorial expansion, the Chinese Communist Government will be responsible for establishing socialism, while the USSR will concentrate on enforcing Communism. These philosophies are synonymous.
- i. Progress within China has included the prosperity of labor and industry; the manufacture of every type of motor vehicle and aircraft; and a marked increase in the technical knowledge necessary for the manufacture of the atomic bomb.
- j. Plans are now being formulated for the manufacture of atomic weapons in the near future at an undisclosed site in Outer Mongolia. Underground factories, designed for this purpose, are under secret construction in Hsin Chiang Province.
- k. The peace offer being advanced by Philippine Communist leader Luis Taruc is in the interest of the Filipino people. The HMB is the only revolutionary group with the requisite ideals and military strength necessary to liberate the Filipino people from their corrupt, tyrannical government.

25X1 [REDACTED] Comment. The report also reveals the anti-US sentiment being advanced by the WANGs, earlier illustrations of which were reported [REDACTED]
 25X1 [REDACTED] which contains an indication of the effectiveness of Chinese Communist propaganda broadcasts which are beamed to the Philippines, suggested that the majority of the propaganda being circulated by the WANGs is based on Chinese Communist radio broadcasts.
